

To Be A Woman Means To Be Humbly

Prologue I - Three Words

Only three words, but I have to confess that I thought: That's it, now this farce will come to an end. It was a wonderful speech, an emotional speech, a powerful speech. Everybody listening could only agree with her - I thought. Without any doubt one of the best speeches I've ever heard. A wonderful speech.

Could you imagine what it would mean, when she would be in office - instead of "him"? Yes, she was not up for election, and I say not that she should run for it, but only the thought - for me a thrilling thought.

It's a bit disturbing that the things developed in the way as they developed. Something appears that tells you, that there's something, it shows up now. What shall I say as a German? A question that accompanied me for many decades found its answer - a disturbing and frightening answer.

Her words were such clear words, her sentences well formed and her examples such appropriate. Everybody could understand her, everybody was able to follow her and her thoughts. Especially because everything lead to a very simple but striking phrase - but the phrase faded away.

One could say that this is an indicator therefore that this words, that this speech, not had this strength, about which I'm talking. But this would be wrong, the speech, the words, had all the strength which words and speeches can have. The problem weren't the speech or the words, the problem is the world in which we are living. When such words not develop their full effect, then this tells you a lot about the world in which they were said. Three words can change a world, can change history, but only when the world is in a state, in a state willing listening to. Otherwise the strongest thinkable words will fade away unheard:

"Enough is enough!"

Prologue II – Annegret Kramp-Karrenbauer

I hope you will fail! Yes, I know you will be the next candidate of the CDU / CSU for the chancellorship in Germany - if Mrs. Merkel will not step down earlier and you will become chancellor therewith. But I talk about the next election in 2021 - you have to lose!

I see the dumb chauvinists sitting in a talk show, asking you: Do you dare to do chancellor? What a fucking question? Sure you do! Oh, I've forgotten, dear chauvinists - she's a woman! But that's not my problem, the problem I have with her?

Your opinions are stone age! Gay marriage as the beginning of Sodom and Gomorrah - what an unbelievable shit is this? Compared with you is Mrs. Merkel a revolutionary - you're living a hundred years too late!

You as the next chancellor would be a disaster - but I fear your opponents will make it easy for you - at least if they stick with the fact that you're a woman. How interesting is it that you're a woman? Your programmatic is devastating! I hope they will start therewith to talk about what it would mean, to have you as chancellor!

I hope you will fail as chancellor candidate totally, from the bottom of my heart! You're a woman? Who's interested in that?

Footnote: To all who babble about her name - what's the problem about her name? For every German it should be no problem to pronounce her name - what a stupid chatter is this? Talk about her fucking opinions and should you be unable to pronounce her name, practice!

Mrs. Kramp-Karrenbauer, your opinions are fucking!

I.) My New Diary

It's a long time ago that I wrote a diary - as a little girl. But now, now I've the feeling that I have to start therewith again. Too much in my mind, I have to try to sort it. I will not write down something everyday, only from time to time, when I need it.

Problems With My Paper

My dear new diary, this will be my first entry. I got a homework - yeah, maybe I take it too serious. But I've the feeling that you cannot take it too serious at this time. I had a conversation with my history teacher, Ms. Nolan, like that:

"What can I do for you, Kishana?"

"Well, I've problems with my homework, the paper I have to write."

"Maybe I can help you?"

"It's.....I cannot decide, about whom I should write."

"I will give you no grade for the person you choose. I will give you a grade for the structure, the research you did and such aspects."

"Yes, I know. But I've the feeling that it would be of importance whom I choose."

"The topic is "A Woman Who Impresses Me". I set this homework, this topic, without restrictions of any kind on purpose. I'm very interested in whom you pupils will choose - the boys and the girls?"

"Yes. But say, that I would write about Michelle Obama?"

"Would be very interesting for me."

"But wouldn't it be somewhat banal? I mean as....."

"No, not at all. She's a fascinating woman - or?"

"Yes, but.....Aretha Franklin or maybe Nina Simone?"

"Also very interesting women - too banal?"

"I could top it - my mother?"

"Does your mother not impresses you?"

"No, on the contrary. But.....Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez?"

"Why not! As I said, you can choose whomever you want."

"Elizabeth Warren, Nancy Pelosi, Senator Feinstein.....?"

"Amy Klobuchar? I think that I understand your problem now. You simply have too many names in mind. Yes! But isn't it encouraging, that especially today there are so many interesting women, you could choose? Choose one - as I said, your choice will not effect your grade."

"Yes, but what about women like.....Kellyanne Convay, Sarah Huckabee Sanders or Betsy DeVos?"

"Well.....if this women impress you?"

"The first one only talks nonsense. The next one lies all the time. If she, one time, answers a question at all. And the third one is a money-hungry bitch who destroys every possibility for poor people to gain higher education."

"And this impresses you?"

"It impresses me that they can behave this way. It impresses me that they act like their male counterparts act. It impresses me that we allow them to do so. It impresses me that they not even try to veil their doing and that they are the stars of today therefore."

"But I think this would not hit the topic, the scope, of my homework. What do you mean?"

"I mean, that it's maybe more important to write about them today, than about Michelle Obama or Nina Simone."

"I appreciate your reflection about my homework, it's impressive that you ponder about it with that much passion. But as I said, it's for you, to train your abilities to write such a paper - not more. You ever thought about, to write for the school newspaper?"

"Would I be allowed to write that Betsy DeVos is a money-hungry bitch?"

"I fear not in that way. But good journalism can express statements in various ways."

"Yeah, laundered with fabric softener! In the meanwhile she destroys my future - that's fucking!"

"Choose a woman and write your paper. It would be very interesting to me, to continue with this conversation. Unfortunately I've another meeting now. Would this be okay for you?"

"Yes, sure. Thanks, Ms. Nolan."

And now? Does she took me seriously? Yes, of course - she made a lot of time for me! But in the end, the conversation was disappointing again, as so many things are disappointing today. Yes, to learn how to write a paper - write it on the wall? Shout it out loud? Is the form more important than the content? Choose a name, not important which? Fuck, what is more important than the name you choose!

Melissa

My dear diary, I had a conversation with one of me best girlfriends, with Melissa. She told me that her boyfriend has asked her about marrying him as soon as possible. I mean, she's fifteen! She has talked with me about her concerns, what about with school now, about a job, about the future? To become a young wife, even a young mother? What about the unsure future of our country?

They are a nice pair, and I think he's a good boy - but marring? She doubts, but does I can tell her what she should do? I would ask him whether he really loves me. And if he would say yes, I would tell him that I need time. Time to finish school, what about senior high or even college? A job, creating a basis for a own self-determined life? That we could be together, see how everything would develop.

In some states a twelve or thirteen-year-old girl can marry, in many no minimum age is even fixed - why this haste? Is it that important that - especially with the girls - they have to become a spouse as soon as possible? I have no boyfriend, not interested in to get that pressure - but can I tell her this?

All this successful women in TV - politicians, celebrities, TV hosts, movie stars - happily married with at least two wonderful children, with pleasure even more! Are this our role models? Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez? She's unmarried - or? Definitely she has no children - maybe I should write about her?

And Melissa? Would it be appropriate would I say her that I think that it's a mistake to marry that early? That, if he not can wait, he can't be the right one? That you never know what the future brings - he can die for instance. And then? No good school education, no job experience but children? I cannot determine her life - but I should have a longer talk with her about her concerns.

Shutdown

It's insane to see, how people act to fulfill their unholy fantasies. But what's devastating is, that we let them do so. Our president and Mitch McConnell, two people - why we cannot force a voting? It would be a voting! It wouldn't be a revolt! Is this another sign therefor that we aren't a democracy at all? We would spend 5 billion dollar for this? Everything is build on fear, everything leads to hate - is it all about money? Why we give a single person so much power - checks and balances? I'm frightened, it's my future - the pursuit of happiness? They not allow me anything, they destroy everything, but it's my own fault. Why I'm not a daughter of rich parents? Why my skin has the color that it has? Why I'm a woman? Why I'm not a rich conservative old white man with European roots? Then everything would be allowed to me, I could bully hundred of thousands, because there are people with different opinions - what do they allow themselves? He would be a perfect dictator and people like Mitch McConnell his faithful minions. Will this lead to a new civil rights movement with all it's consequences? I'm not sure what I should do.....

Warren For President?

Elizabeth Warren is the first well-known democrat who has said that she will run for presidency. That's good, and I hope that a woman will become president, but will she be worldly-wise enough? She fell for his tricks once, will she do it again? You cannot defeat him by playing his games. Somebody would be needed, who would name the truth - the democrats? Isn't it interesting what Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez said? That she sees lobbyists and Goldman Sachs, but not labor, no activists, no frontline community leaders - that's the wrong way, democrats. For the second time the wrong way.

Elizabeth Warren is an important politician, but I fear she would not be ruthless enough to defeat him. This man lies, and his supporters like him lying! You cannot argue with "the truth", the "truth" has become meaningless! You would have to show that he's a lame duck, nothing than a bigmouth! You would have to show that his policy will ruin our country, that he threatens especially the lives of the "normal" people - you would have to be aggressive, would have to take the reins, would have to set the agenda! Elizabeth Warren? I fear a bit, that he would make her look bad, with his lies and impertinences.

The World Laughs About Me

To Be A Woman In This Time

Ms. Nolan

<< school newspaper / blog

II.) My Blog

<< success?

III.) Becoming Politically Active

<< change in style??

<< tow party system

IV.) ??????????

V.) Becoming A Political Activist